Clockwise: Hoagie Bear does the two step. The evil eye isn't so bad when it is Ian Kaufman who gives it. Joyce appears to be hard at work, or is she? Caroline displays her artistic talents in Jonathan Ingersoll's class.

Thank You

An excellent yearbook appeals equally to all the students in the school. An excellent yearbook captures everything which happened to everybody in words and photographs and preserves them for future years. An excellent yearbook contains what each student would most like in his yearbook. An excellent yearbook is carefully plotted and detailed. An excellent yearbook is impossible.

This particular yearbook is a miracle.

The staff of this yearbook realized that every page would not interest everyone, but that every page should interest someone, and that everyone should be interested in some pages.

The staff of THE DOVE was plagued with problems from the start, most notably, our lack of organization. Aside from our internal problems, we were able to produce a good yearbook. THE DOVE staff hopes that all its readers enjoy the book. •

There are several people that the staff would like to thank, among them: Jim Laurel, Karin Corea, and the rest of the PIO staff. Also to be thanked, Dan Benson, Paul Mannix, and Pam Gould, and all others who contributed their personal photographs. Our sincere thanks goes out to the Student Government Association for their financial support.

Much love and thanks are also due to Kaye Hearn, of Josten's/American Yearbook Company for her enduring faith and help. Thanks!

To everyone else, look through this book, many, many times. It gets better every additional time — and as time goes by. Enjoy.
